

Vision

The Institute of Research and Development is concerned in the promotion of integrated research for excellence in science and technology at the global level, being a research information center, and utilizing the research achievements to develop the region and the country.

Mission

The Institute is responsible for managing and coordinating regarding the university research and development affairs, including budget and research instruments planning and providing, coordinating and implementing with other research units of various schools under the institutes in order to support both research and learning-teaching, especially for the postgraduate students, to concurrently be both efficient and effective. Besides, the Institute has played a role in coordinating for research and development benefits and needs between university units and personnel and outside organizations.